CAPTAIN CANOT. A UTHOR OF THE GREAT BOOK JUST BE-ING PUBLISHED, SPEAKS OF HAMPTON'S

GREAT CURE OF RUBUMATISM CONTRACTED UNDER TROPICAL CLIMATES. BALTIMORE, Md., June 4, 1854.

Hr. Stockbridge, of the Fountain Hotel, Light street,

VOL. IV.

Baltimore-Dear Sir: Being on the point of leaving the city, avail myself of a few idle moments to thank you kindly for the medicine you sent me, and shich has restored me to the use of my limbs. I beg you to send me four bottles more, to carry on my voyage. Since I had the fortune to use Dr. Hampton's Vege table Tincture my confidence is so strong that, in gratitude to the proprietors of said medicine, I beg you to present my respects to them, and induce them to make it more publicly known as a sure Rheumatic cure. Having called on me on the 19th of April last, and seen me prostrated on my bed, useless in all my li abs, you can appreciate nearly as well as myself the prompt relief I received from Dr. Hampton's Tincture, and I am positive had it not been for your strong and forcible recommenda-tions I should still have been in bed.

It is really a pity this specific should not be approved by medical men, and like all patent drugs it should suffer the imputation the public generally give to such preparations. I myself, who was al ways opposed to a patented specific, took this medicine with reluctance, and without confidence in it, and it was only through your disinterested, friendly recommendations, and my critical situation that ininced me to try this really beneficial Vegetable

You may inform Messrs. Mortimer & Mowbray that they are at liberty te make use of my name in the support of the good effects of Dr. Hampton's Vegetable Tincture, as it has cured me in five weeks of a chronic Inflammatory Rheumatism, contracted under tropical climates, and of seven years' periodical duration. I have only used three bottles, and find that even the deformed parts of my hands are fast returning to their former natural appearance. I have been under the treatment of several physicians in London and Paris, without any apparent benefit; also, while in New York, having tried the Thompsonian and Homospathic remedies, after having been tormented with galvanic ba teries, cold and aromatic baths, and hundreds of internal and external medicines, all to no effect, I am, so far, cured by this Hampton's Vege able Tincture only. past patronage, and say that owing to the frequent Therefore, my dear sir, accept of the assurance of my gratitude, and believe me your well wisher.

PORTSMOUTH, VA, Aug. 18, 1851. Mr. J. E. Boush—Bear sir: While I am, in general, opposed to patent medicines, candor compels me to state that I have great confidence in the virtues of Hampton's Vegetable Tincture. For several months past I have used it in my femily; and in lyspepsia, loss of appetite, dizziness, and general de-So far as my experience extends, therefore, I take pleasure in recommending it to the afflicted as a safe and efficient remedy. That is a very short word. It has very short mean ng sometimes. If often blasts fond anticipations; it may change the whole tenor of life In matrimonial matters, it would be better that it should sex sometimes say "No," when they mean "Yes," and should use the shorter word when they do not. One Sunday evening, not many nights ago, the Rev. Mr. Thompson performed a marriage ceremony at the Tabernacleboth parties said yes at the proper time, and the reverend gentleman said Amen.

"I want you to perform the same thing for me," said a well-dressed young man to Mr. Thompson.

"When?" "Now-right off-to-night."

nake it rather late." "No-the lady says now or never, and am very anxious. Will you go?"

"Yes-where is it?" "Close by—only a few steps west of the Park. We are all ready, and will not detain you but a few minutes on your way home. Mr. T. went to the place, which wa respectable boarding-house, and every thing evinced decorum. The ladyyoung and pretty neatly dressed, and altogether a desirable partner for the gentleman-was presented, and a short prayer, as usual upon such occasions, offered, and their hands joined.

"You, with the full sense of the obligations you assume, do promise, here, in the presence of God and these witnesses that you will take this woman, whose right hand you clasp in yours, to be your lawful wedded wife, and as such you will lone and cherish her forever."

"And you, Miss, on your part, wil you take this man to be your lawful wedded husband?" "No !"

We have heard, in times past, when howers were fashionable, some pretty heavy claps of thunder, but none that ever rattled about the tympanum of that bridegroom was quite so loud as that stunning little monosyllable.

"No, I never will!" said she, most emphatically, and walked away proud ly to her seat, leaving her almost hus band looking and probably just the leas trifle in the world foolish. Mr. Thompson remonstrated-not to induce her to change that No for Yes, but for trifling with him in a solemn duty of his calling, and asked for an explana-

"I meant no disrespect to you, sir, or or to trifle with your duty, or the solemn obligation you were called upon to ratify, but I had no other way to vindicate my character. I came to the city a poor sewing girl. I worked for this man. He made proposals of marriage to me, but from other circumstances I doubted his sincerity, and left his employment, and went back to the country for a while. When I returned, I found the door of my former boarding house closed against me and this lady, whom I esteemed as a kind friend, cool and quite indisposed to renew my acquaintance, and I insisted on knowing the reason. I learned that this man had blackened my character, denied his proposals of marriage, and said I was -no matter what. I said to the lady, 'let me come back, and I will prove my innocence. Will you believe what I say if he will now marry me?"" "'Yes, I certainly will, and so will all who know you.' "I renewed the acquaintance—he renewed his proposals-I accepted, and said 'Yes, get the minister at onee.' He slandered me-I deceived him. I proved my words true, and his false. It was the only way a poor, helpless girl had to avenge herself on a man who had proved himself unworthy to be her husband. It it. I hope it will be a lesson to men, an journing.

Daily developments of credulity are remarkable. One has recently occurred in New York. A printer, who has shamefully disgraced the "craft," dropped his "stick," dubbed himself "Dr.," and astounded the world with the announcement that he had discovered the secret of alchemy, or the grand doctrine of transmutation, and in the course of a few years he has amassed some $50,000, which may afford some idea of ing, after some words between them, he the number of his dupes, one of whom has deposed that he purchased from the great alchemist a bottle of liquid which was to enable him to find hidden treasure. He was instructed to take it to a field where he thought treasure was hid kneel down on his left knee, rest his right knee, and suspend the indicator by winding the string three times around the end of his fore finger, put all his attention on the indicator and watch which way it moved; if it moved, he must mark the place, then move across and mark four places in the shape of a cross, get the centre as near as he could, and he would find the treasure to a certainty. He has Tried the indicator a great many times in Waterford, but has never found any treasure, although he has dug four holes ten feet deep and six feet in diameter.

THE NEW MORMON TEMPLE. - The great temple which these enterprising but singular people are building at the City of the Great Salt Lake, is described to be a wonderful structure, covering an area of 21,850 square feet. The block on which it is located is forty rods square, and contains ten acres of ground, around which a lofty wall has already been ereted, to be surmounted by an iron railing manufactured by the Mormons ther selves at their iron works in Iron county. Utah Territory. The temple building will have a length of one hundred and eighty six feet, east and west, including towers, of which there are three at the east end, and three at the west, and the width will be ninety-nine feet. The northern and southern wills are eight

The towers spoken of above are cylindrical, surmounted by octagon turrets and pinnacles, and having inside spiral stairways leading to the battlements. Besides these, there are four other towers on the four principal corners of the building, square in form, and terminating in spires. On the western end will be placed the Great Dippe, or Ursa Ma-

As regards the interior arranger ents, there will be in the basement a baptismal font fifty-seven feet long by thirty-five feet wide, and on the first floor a large hall one hundred and twenty feet long by eighty feet wide, while on the third floor there will be another of the same size, besides numerous other rooms for various purposes. Around the outside of the building will be a promenade from elev to twenty-two feet wide, approached on all sides by stone steps.

A letter from an officer serving in the Crimea, states that Menschikoff, who commanded, left behind him his carriage and horses, the former being full of boxes, containing most magnificent bussar uniforms, and also portmanteus of valo able articles. These were quickly ransacked. Watches and jewelry, arms and fine clothing of every kind, were found, which soon exchanged possessors in the persons of our men. The officers came in but for a small portion, though I deemed myself lucky in appropriating to my especial keeping a very compact and useful portmanteus, manufactured from the most esteemed Russia leather. Among the various articles found was a pair of white satin slippers, which made us suswas only at the right time to say only pect that the gallant chief was most one word-one little word. > THE REWARD OF CONSTANCY .- A Young widow in France has just married a man frightfully disfigured. He fell in love with her four years back, and one evenwent home, and attempted to blow out his brains. The ball lacerated his face in a dreadful manner, but did not kill him, and in the course of time he recovered from the wound. The young woman afterwards became a widow, and wrote to the man that she wished to see him. He came, but she could not recognize him, so greatly was he changed. She passed some months in becoming familiar with his dreadful ugliness, and is now married to him.
